11.45am	Witton Park Village Hall Performance of 'The Fighting Bradfords' A young person's adaptation. Invited guests only. The most celebrated brothers in British military service, the Bradfords were Witton Park, County Durham's own. Drawing on first-hand accounts, correspondence and family anecdotes, an original play by Carina Rodney, and adapted for this special commemoration by Jane Crawford & Debbie Connell, tells the story of this highly decorated family of First World War soldiers: Roland the born leader and a natural soldier; George, who heroically volunteers for a seemingly suicidal mission; James who joins the war under pressure from his brothers; and the eldest brother, and only survivor, Thomas. Influenced by a domineering father and artistic mother, the boys' childhood was filled with imaginative role playing and intensely competitive sport. They were bare-knuckle boxers and lovers of poetry, strong soldiers and accomplished musicians, but above all else they were selflessly brave in their determination to play the game, whatever the cost. The Fighting Bradfords explores what drove this remarkable family from Witton Park to become national as well as very local heroes.		2.45pm	'The Wear at War' Film Produced by Lonely Tower Film and Media. Introduced by Mark Thorburn 'The 4th of August 1914: Life along County Durham's River Wear would be forever altered. The communities that worked the river's banks and shaped the land would fuel the battalions and industry at the heart of the war effort. A poet cut down down on the Somme. A family of Victoria Cross heroes. A young girl lost at home. Just some of the stories of the Wear at War.' The film was produced by Lonely Tower Film & Media for a project organised by Wessington U3A and funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund. The running time is 1hr 25 minutes
